Campus Parking Program in Final Stages

Cars Divided Into 5 Groups; Owners To Receive Stickers

Pending arrival of 60 special signs from Minneapolis, a new parking program will go into effect at Montana State University. Tom Monahan, new Assistant Dean of Students appointed last summer, is working out the mechanics of the new program. Detailed campus maps showing various parking places will be printed in the Kaimin in the near future.

Cars have been divided into five general groups—faculty and staff, campus, commuter, and women residents and faculty (Corbin lot only).

Stickers will be issued to all persons who bring cars to the campus and need parking facilities here. In turn, certain areas have been designated for certain parking groups. For example, campus residents will be parked in the lot behind Elrod Hall and in the new area on Sixth Street west of the Field House.

Ample Parking Space

"The new lot alone will accommodate over 700 cars," Monahan explained. "Combined with the Elrod lot, there should be ample space for the campus cars."

Persons living more than six blocks from campus have been classified as commuters, and space for about 800 cars has been set aside for them.

"We are hoping for the cooperation of fraternity and sorority people who live close enough to campus to walk," Monahan said. "This will greatly ease our problem and a good many of the off-campus students have to walk a goodly distance now from the parking places they are able to find."

"Another thing students can do to relieve the congestion is to walk from class to class. Really, our campus isn't so huge that anyone need drive between classes. By the time he finds another parking place and then walks to the building, it probably takes longer than if he had walked."

Rules Will Be Enforced

As soon as signs are posted and the map circulated, a police force will be hired to enforce the new parking regulations. Monahan declined to say if the police service would be 24 hours a day, and how many would be hired.

The parking tickets have already been printed, and a $1 fine will be imposed for each rule infraction. Further legal action will be taken against regular offenders.

The parking problem has become more and more acute in recent years as enrollment and the car-driving population has increased. More than a third of the students at Montana State University, or about 1,300 persons, have registered cars with the dean's office.

Borrowed from the Montana Fish and Game Dept., the cub was named after the Grizzly football coach, Jerry Williams. 22 Bear Paws Tapped At First SOS

Members of the 1956-57 Bear Paws were tapped last night at the first Singing On Steps of the school year. The 22 men tapped are: Bill Crawford, Missoula; Gary Eichhorn, Forsyth; D. C. Hodges, Sheridan, Wyo.; Robert Crane, Armington; S. Ragland, Fort Benton; Richard Josephson, Billings; John Reely, Missoula; Steve Gerdies, Missoula; Bob Ruby, Billings; John Stipe, Opportunity, Wash.; Rolla Bruce Swarens, Whitefish; Merrill Evenson, Hardin; Larry Pettit, Lewistown; Byron Christian, Kalispell; Ken Robison, Butte; Glenn McGivny, Salmon, Idaho; Jim Smith, Thompson Falls; Walker Ashcraft, Hot Springs; Nevada Bonar, Chinook; Charles Aker, Kalispell; Don Wright, Stevensville; and Dave Werner, Stanford.

Bear Paws were first organized on the MSU campus in 1920, and two years later joined the national service organization of Intercollegiate Knights, dropped, and again joined in 1927.

Bear Paw was discontinued on the campus in 1943 and it was not started again until the end of the war. In 1946, Bear Paw was reorganized and continued as a member of Intercollegiate Knights until dropping membership again in 1950.

C-B Asked to Help Administration On Parking Issue

Central Board, student governing body, was asked last Tuesday to help the administration with the parking problem here on campus. Andrew Cogswell, Dean of Students, asked for a supervisory committee to work with the administration in determining if improvements can be made in the administration's plan.

Two of the Board members were in favor of turning down the request, because they felt that if the parking situation was a student problem, then Central Board should have been consulted at the beginning. If the committee was formed, Central Board would receive the criticism from a plan it did not set up.

Dean Cogswell pointed out that the parking problem was first brought up in Central Board four years ago and a plan was sent to the Board of Education. This system has had to be altered with new buildings and more cars on campus. The administration chose one that is in effect at Oregon State College and is going into effect at Iowa University.

Judicial Council has agreed to handle the appeals from fines, Alpha Phi Omega will put up the signs, and a police force will check the lots, explained Dean Cogswell.

Other Central Board members felt that if the students could work with the administration, it would give the students a chance to make suggestions for improvements in the parking plan. Final decision on forming a committee was tabled until next meeting.

Stan Nicholson, Missoula, was appointed, upon the recommendation of president John Fowler, to handle the details of MSU becoming a member of the National Student Association. Bill Steinbrenner, Missoula, was chosen election chairman, and Arlys Engdahl, Jordan, was appointed to the Loan Fund Committee, upon the recommendation of Bruce Cook, ASMSU business manager.

Pan-Hel Issues Regulations Concerning Deferred Rushing

The rules and tentative program concerning deferred rushing on the MSU campus have now been submitted by Panhellenic Council.

In the State Board of Education meeting in Dillon Aug. 6, a ban on fraternity and sorority "rushing" for fall quarter was announced. Discussion at the board meeting brought out that on Missoula and Bozeman campuses rushing of the prospective members for sororities and fraternities started about the same time the educational units were giving new students orientation and aptitude tests, which were completely at odds with the social aspects of campus life. This decision by the 11-member board was made without a dissenting vote being recorded.

Officers of sororities and fraternities expressed an agreement with the general aim of the board's actions, but they pointed out that plans for the coming autumn quarter's rushing had been laid before this announcement, and that immediate effectiveness of such a ruling would work financial hardships on the Greek letter societies. The State Board of Education revised their decision on Aug. 22 to permit the first quarter of rushing. The ruling was still applicable to all six units of the university system under the direction of the board, but the effect was left primarily up to MSU and MSC where social societies play an important role. MSC decided to have rush, but MSU had not undergone such financial strife that would allow them to continue with the board's first decision. Thus, new rules had to be considered, and a program set up to allow all students a fair chance to partake in activities with fellow students.

Panhellenic is setting up a Fraternity Education Program. The aim of this program is to get the freshman and transfer students acquainted with the greek system. There will probably be three to four parties consisting of things like open houses, entertainment, and movies.

Five Rules Govern Students

There are five main rules governing the student body and their associations on and off campus. These regulations have been set up by Panhellenic: 1) Upperclass women in the dorms: No upper-class Greek women will be allowed in the freshman dorms, or upstairs, at any time during fall quarter with the exception of sisters or close relatives of the new students whose names will be on a check list in the dorm office, and AWS big sisters to pick up their little sisters for specific AWS events. These girls may take no friends into the dorm with them. 2) Junior sponsors in the dorm: Junior sponsors may not wear their pins for two weeks, nor have in their rooms or on their persons any other article bearing their sorority insignia. They may participate in rush during winter quarter and may have off-campus activities with freshmen.

3) New students in the sorority houses: At no time during fall quarter are new students to be in the houses with the exception of Panhellenic sponsored open houses or educational programs. This rule includes sisters and close relatives, and no exception is to be made for Homecoming or any other campus activity. An independent may come into the sorority house if she has been on campus for one previous rushing

J-Council Acts On Two Students

Judicial Council took its first action of the new year, and as a result, one freshman was suspended for one quarter and a sophomore put on probation.

The freshman had been picked up by Missoula police and charged with creating a disturbance and drunkenness. He may apply for readmittance to the University winter quarter.

The sophomore, who is over 21, was brought before the men's board for drinking with a minor. He was put on probation for one quarter and must maintain a B average during that time.

Band, Twirlers Begin Practice

The "Treasure State Band," MSU's 75-piece marching band, has begun work on another series of "Concerts on the Gridiron" for this fall's home football schedule.

The band, with its 12-member twirling corps, has some outstanding routines planned for this season, according to James Eversole, Marching Band Director. Eversole has issued an invitation to all students interested in playing or twirling with the band to contact him immediately in office nine of the music building or from 4 to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday during band rehearsal.

The initial appearance of the band will be during homecoming festivities, Oct. 13. In addition to halftime shows at home, band executives are making tentative plans for an appearance in Billings Nov. 19, during the Wyoming-MSU football game.

Eversole is being assisted by Bruce Patrick, graduate assistant in the School of Music. Band officers include Ephraim Hackett, Stevensville, president; Carol Peterson, Lewistown, vice-president; and Jeanne Sanderson, Billings, secretary-treasurer.

4,000 FOR UTAH STATE

According to Student Life, publication from Utah State College, nearly 4,000 students have registered for fall quarter on the Logan campus. This figure is 500 persons over last year's total.

'57 Sentinel Pictures Now Being Taken

Individual pictures are being taken for the 1957 Sentinel at the Film and TV center, said Kay Blaszek, Publications Board chairman, Missoula.

"Men are to wear suit jackets and ties. Women wear sweaters for the pictures," said Miss Blaszek.

Miss Blaszek stressed that students "come for pictures at the time of their appointment" but if students miss appointments, they may come to the Film and TV Center 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.; 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.; 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays.

The 1956 Sentinels may be picked up at the Student Employment service in the old infirmary.

The yearbooks came out during the summer this year for the first time in several years. Dick Hosking, Butte, was editor.

Murder Mystery To Show Tonight At U Theater

"Dial M for Murder" will be given two showings tonight at 7:30 and 9:30 in the University Theater as part of the "Fall Film Features" under direction of the ASMSU Movie Committee.

Featuring Grace Kelly, Robert Cummings and Ray Milland, this film is a drama of suspense in modern London. This film is one of Alfred Hitchcock's greatest productions, said Bob Peters, Missoula, Movie Committee head.

Peters said, "We intend to maintain a high quality of motion picture entertainment in addition to providing the utmost in variety from art movies to mystery movies."

According to Peters, the sound system remains the only problem, although it has been improved over last year. When the committee can show profit, plans are being made to secure a cinema-scope screen and projector which would be able to present the newest and finest movies at cheaper prices, he said. The committee already has "Mr. Roberts" on order for a showing next quarter.

Other movies to be shown every Friday of this month will be the "Lavender Hill Mob," "Captain Horatio Hornblower," and "A Star is Born." Single admission for the shows will be 40 cents and season tickets are available at $2.50.

Drama Tickets On Sale Soon

Season tickets will go on sale Tuesday, Oct. 9, for another season of productions to be presented by the MSU drama department, according to Bo Brown, drama director.

The tickets will be sold at the Lodge, Simpkins theater box office, by mail and at downtown establishments. Student price for the season admission will be 75 cents plus an MSU activity card; faculty admission, $2; and general admission price will be $2.50.

"Skin of Out Teeth," by Thornton Wilder will be the first production to be presented by the drama department. The play, which requires a cast of 50, will be staged in Simpkins theater, Nov. 15, 16, and 17. Wilder is also the playwright of "Our Town."

"The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde will be the second play to be presented by the MSU group. Staging will take place "in the round" at the Yellowstone Room of the Lodge, Jan. 29 through Feb. 2.

A comedy, "Twelfth Night," by William Shakespeare, will complete the drama schedule. The play, which will also go on a Montana tour, will be presented in the University theater, May 14 and 15.

period. 4) Academic, extra-curricular and social contacts: Life on campus is to go on as usual with normal contact (behavior in ordinary sense) in academic and extra-curricular activities. In social contact on campus, i.e., coke dates, dinners, movies in the Lodge or University Theater, etc., no more than two or any one sorority may be alone with any number of new students.

Mixed Greek groups (containing members of two or more sororities) may meet on campus with any number (within reason) of new students. All social dates between Greek women and new students are to be dutch. There is to be no social contact with new students off campus with the exception of sisters, family groups, or double dates. Freshmen may attend formal teas as dorm representatives, and this same rule stands for those in Greek standing. If a Greek and an independent are from the same home town, and want to ride home in the same car, it must be checked through Panhellenic first.

5) Alumni: To entertain a freshman, an alum must first obtain permission from Panhellenic three days in advance. No other alum or affiliated member of the same sorority may assist them. The alum may have two girls, but they both must be close friends of hers. Boys may be invited if they are close friends of the students.

Grizzlies Optimistic About Denver Game After Watching Pioneer-Cowboy Clash

By ED KING and RON MUNGER

Denver's Pioneers are going to be in for a rough evening tonight—that is the consensus of members of the Grizzly football squad who watched Denver and Wyoming play last Saturday through the medium of TV. The Grizzlies are confident Denver will not thump them again by 48 points as they did last year.

The Grizzlies were not impressed by the 27-0 defeat Wyoming gave the 1954 Skyline Champions last week, and the Montanans are confident of victory.

Record

The Grizzlies are looking for their third victory against the Denver Pioneers since their rivalry began in 1951. Going into tonight's game Denver has won three games against Montana's two victories in Skyline competition between the two schools.

Montana first met Denver in 1951 and the Grizzlies were soundly trounced 55-0. In 1952 Montana defeated the Pioneers 17-7.

The following season, little Dick Imer ran wild and the Silvertips came out on the long end of a 22-13 score. Since 1953 it has been all Denver, as they edged 19-13 in 1954 and spoiled Montana's homecoming last year, with a 61-13 victory.

Denver Toughies

Drake transfer Gene Gatewood, and Dick Upton, halfbacks, looked very fast according to many of the Grizzlies. Grizzlies Don Williamson and Ivory Jones were particularly impressed with the play of Denver's big end, Ernie Pitts.

In comparing figures, Denver has a total rushing yardage of 673 in three games this season to Montana's 336 yards in two encounters. Montana has yielded 342 yards on the ground and 312 yards through the air, while Denver's opponents have gained 616 yards rushing and 324 yards passing. Johnny Wilson, a converted fullback, and Dick Guppton are the Pioneers' leading ground gainers with 152 yards and 89 yards respectively. Quarterback Al Yankovich has completed 13 of 27 pass attempts for 107 yards. Montana Quarterback Roy Bray has attempted 15 passes of which 7 were completed for 103 yards.

I-M Chiefs Urged To Turn In Rolls

Intramural director Ed Chinske Thursday urged all intramural managers to turn in their football and tennis rosters to him by 4 p.m. today.

League play in touch football, which was to begin Monday, has been postponed until Tuesday.

Chinske said all men students are eligible for the tennis tournament, both singles and doubles, and urged a large turnout. Although only a few have signed up, he said he would like to see as many as 50 or 100 participating.

The tentative Oct. 14 date for the golf tournament has been verified and the tournament will be held on that day. Green fees will be $1.50 for the 18-hole Polson tournament. League bowling will begin Oct. 16.

Chinske, still short of I-M officials, has set a meeting for those already signed up and those interested at 4 p.m. today.

Cub Football Squad Draws 36 Players. All 'Potential Varsity'—Sherbeck

Thirty-six candidates are out for the Cub football squad, and each is a good potential varsity player, Cub coach Hal Sherbeck said yesterday.

Many Montana high school products are among the candidates, and seven of the Cubs played in this year's Shrine football game.

The Cubs do not play any games this year and Sherbeck said there are many misconceptions why Frosh do not play against any competition.

"The main reason we do not play any games," Sherbeck said, "is so we can give more individual attention to the players. We can also teach them better the style of ball we want them to play."

Sherbeck also said the limited number of men and finances prevents playing games.

MONTANA WILL FACE TOUGH AGGIES AT HOMECOMING

Montana's opponent in next week's Homecoming game will be the Utah State Aggies, one of the tougher teams in the Skyline Conference this year. Thus far the Aggies have won two ball games and lost one and hold a 1-1 conference record.

Utah State may have the best back in the league in Jack Hill, a 187-pound senior, who is currently the number one ball carrier in the Skyline Eight. Hill has gained 317 yards on the ground to edge Wyoming's Jim Crawford in that department.

Last year Utah State defeated Montana 32-6 and finished in fifth place a step ahead of the Silvertips.

Campus Construction In Full Swing As Several Buildings Near Completion

Construction on the MSU campus has been in full swing the past summer with work started on two dormitory extensions, two units of family housing and an extension to the Lodge. Work on the library addition is nearly complete with only some flooring left to be done.

A face lifting on the University family housing on South avenue with new siding and paint plus a general cleanup of the area has, in the words of Marc Bourke, family housing director, "contributed greatly toward making the housing a more comfortable place to live."

Extension to House 132

Work on the Brantly-Corbin halls extension was started last spring and completion is expected soon. Several girls are now living in the addition, without plumbing. The extension will eventually house 132 women.

The Craig-Elrod extension, 127 rooms housing 264 men, will be completed winter quarter.

The Lodge addition will provide seating for an additional 1,000 students on the ground floor, and room for the student store and a banquet room on the second floor. The large banquet room can be divided into three smaller rooms with partitions. The student store will occupy a 120 ft. by 50 ft. space at the south end of the addition. The new quarters will enable the store to more than double its number of book racks.

The first of two units of new family housing will be completed early in January, providing quarters for 60 families. Student rents in the new housing will be $65 for a no-bedroom unit, $70 for 1-bedroom, $75 for 2-bedrooms, $80 for 3-bedrooms, and $85 for 4-bedrooms, according to Bob Seaman, assistant manager of family housing. Faculty rent is $5 more than student rates. All utilities are included in the rent.

Waiting List for Strips

Seaman said the row housing is filled to capacity with a waiting list of approximately 100. Of a total of 340 units, 219 are occupied, 18 vacant but assigned, and the remaining units are now untenable but being repaired.

Bourke said the housing would try to insulate all exposed water pipes in the units before extreme cold weather sets in, thus eliminating the rash of frozen pipes that have plagued the "strips" in past winters.

Fences have been built on the South avenue side of the east units. Fencing will continue until all yards are enclosed. Unsafe and unsightly fencing will be replaced, Bourke said.

AWS Committee Positions Open

Candidates for positions on AWS committees may secure applications from their living group representative, according to Joan Hoff, Butte, president.

Positions are open on six committees: charm and beauty, counselor-counselee, handbook, lantern parade, publicity, and student faculty relations.

Each applicant is requested to list her three committee preferences on the forms which should be turned in to AWS representatives not later than Oct. 13.

3,059 Students At Bozeman

A 14 per cent increase in enrollment at Montana State College in Bozeman has brought the total to 3,059 students, according to figures released by the registrar's office this week.

There are approximately 2.5 men for every woman on campus, and the Division of Engineering boasts the most students with 1,256 persons enrolled.

Montana State University figures are expected to be lower than the MSC total this year. Although MSU registration ended nearly a week ago and figures have been compiled since then, the official totals will not be released until Saturday.

Parking . . .

Delivery trucks often have trouble getting to a building entrance, especially behind the journalism school and Main Hall. Other cars are "bitten holed" for hours.

Last spring, several tentative parking plans were discussed. One called for limiting cars to only upperclassmen. Another entailed assigning a certain parking space to each student and faculty member.

After a summer of consideration, the lot system was worked out.

"We have enough parking space for the time being," Monahan emphasized. "But cooperation will be needed to insure the success of this plan."
